Transactional data is generated from all the daily transactions that take place both online and offline. Invoices, payment orders, storage records, delivery receipts - all are characterized as transactional data yet data alone is almost meaningless, and most organizations struggle to make sense of the data that they are generating and how it can be put to good use. If you are not familiar with transactional analysis you will need to read through all the notes carefully plus the additional material in the handout. Go through the exercises on your own first so that you can see the rationale. If you have time, try to observe the different types "in play" in your own interactions with people.
